GERMANS HAVE GAINED Foothold IN NORTHERN CAUCASUS SOVIETS ADMIT

GERMAN SALIENTS DRIVEN WITHIN 175 MILES OF STALINGRAD

NAZI ENCIRCLEMENT EFFORT AT VORONEZH SMASHED BY RED ARMY
By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, July 16.—(P)—Two German salients were driven within 175 miles of Stalingrad on the Volga today while at Voronezh Red army counter attacks were said to have smashed a Nazi encirclement arm north of the city and repelled axis advance forces from its outlying streets.
The deepest axis penetrations into the big bend of the Don River, where it curves close to the Volga, where at German-held Boguchar, 130 miles southeast of Voronezh, and southeast of Millerovo where the new Russian salient presumably is along the Kalitva river, 125 miles northeast of Rostov.
There were indications that the fierce upsurge of fighting was spreading over more hundreds of miles of the battlefield. Dispatches from the Bryansk sector, 220 miles southwest of Moscow and 230 miles northwest of Voronezh, said a "more serious struggle" was impending.
No details on operations there at the juncture of the battle line and the new axis bulge to the southeast were given. It was the first word from the Bryansk sector in ten days.
Germans Use More Tanks.
At Voronezh, key to the German twin threat to the road to the Caucasus and the way south into the Caucasus, German troops and their allies were hurling tank reinforcements across the Don into the battle area and rushing up anti-tank batteries to meet the 11 army's armored counter assault.
The German advance, supported by tanks struck at the junction of the Don and Voronezh rivers southwest of Voronezh, but the Russians were reported still holding the city.
German vanguard entered one street but was driven out by Red army men who captured 160 prisoners and destroyed the staff headquarters of a Nazi division, said a dispatch to Pravda, Communist party newspaper.
Fighting Nears Moscow.
Dispatches from the battlefield northwest of Moscow for the first time mentioned fighting east of Rzhev, which is 130 miles from the Soviet capital. The fighting there earlier had been described as southwest of the city.
Forces of German automatic riflemen were said to have wedged into Russian defense positions but were reported repulsed after a two-hour battle.
The dispatches said German pressure continued, but was not on the scale of an offensive.

WAGE INCREASE OF FORTY-FOUR CENTS FOR STEEL WORKERS

WAR LABOR BOARD REACHES DECISION ON CIO DOLLAR DEMANDS

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—The war labor board was expected to announce today a wage increase of 44 cents a day in "Little Steel," the most significant wage decision it has been called on to make so far.
The CIO's United Steel Workers, headed by Philip Murray, had made a five-month fight for an increase of $1 a day over the present basic common labor wage of $5.30 for 157,000 workers in the Midwestern Republic and Inland Steel, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. Employer and public members approved the 44 cents, out-voting the four labor members who stood fast for a larger sum. Authoritative sources who refused quotation by name said last night.
In Pittsburgh Murray met with a committee of 125 Union representatives from the four mills to decide whether to accept the board's ruling. He said there was a precedent in refusing to abide by a WLB decision—the case of a Midwestern rail operator who subsequently worked out an understanding direct with employees.
The labor board decision was said to give the Union a maintenance of membership clause, the company check-off of Union dues, and the minimum daily wage guarantee.
The decision was generally considered far-reaching, since the higher rates might be applied throughout the steel industry, affecting about 600,000 workers. About 400,000 automobile plant workers, also seeking $1 a day increase, have their cases before the board. The basic formula used by the board in "Little Steel" was awaited as an indicator of what can be expected in other decisions in durable goods industries.

SENATE PASSED OPA APPROPRIATION BILL FOR $125,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—The senate passed and returned to the house today a $125,000,000 supplemental appropriation bill. It carried $125,000,000 for the Office of Price Administration.
Although the OPA appropriation was increased $50,000,000 above the sum voted by the house, it still was $15,000,000 short of Administration estimate of needs and contained no provision for the use of any of the money for subsidy payments.
A series of compromises arranged yesterday, however, deleted a proposal for senate confirmation of all PWA employees paid more than $4,500 a year and softened the procedure for establishing price ceilings on goods processed from farm products.
The measure was passed after the senate had shied down a proposal by Senator Clark (D-Mo.) to eliminate a provision preventing the OPA from receiving additional money from the President's emergency funds or other sources.
The measure was passed by a 60-39 vote, with the deciding vote made by the chamber voted 31 to 30 against requiring confirmation of all federal employees.

TEXAS' INFANTRY DIVISION, 36TH, IS READY FOR ACTION

SOMEWHERE IN NORTH CAROLINA, July 16.—(P)—The 36th Infantry Division today awaits the jumpoff signal which will launch the second phase of the battle of the Carolinas.
The division last night moved into new positions after a one-day breathing spell to rest and clean anti-tank guns.
As part of the Blue Force, the 36th looks forward to a tough battle against Red defending forces.
In the first battle of the maneuvers, according to Cpl. Bull O. Woods of Electra, Texas, "The tanks were coming and we were ready for them. We're still ready." The division's 37th Infantry, equipped with four jeeps, one anti-tank gun, and three medium-sized tanks out of action.
The gun is "Frances," named by the corporal and his four-man squad.
She is a powerful lady, weighing close to 1,000 pounds, and she demands the careful attention of her crew.

CANDIDATES MAKING LAST MINUTE DRIVE TO CONTACT VOTERS

CORSCIANA SUN AND SEMI-WEEKLY LIGHT TO BROADCAST RETURNS

Political activity is in full swing as the time for the first Democratic primary election, Saturday, July 25, approaches, with precinct, county, district and state office-seekers and supporters bending their efforts to attract attention of the electorate in their behalf.
The rank and file citizen, however, has not become unduly worked up in the political activities in this section, and the same conditions are reported in other sections. Political observers admit they are in the "dark" on practical all important races.
The customary tours of political appearances of Navarro county candidates was foregone as a war measure to conserve tires under an agreement not later than the date as an early meeting.
Absentee balloting will close at the county clerk's office Tuesday night, July 21, at midnight. L. D. Ransom, county Democratic executive committee chairman, announced Thursday.
Candidates are required to file a $2000 expense account in the county clerk's office not later than Friday night, July 18. Many of the office seekers had filed the second expense account Thursday morning.
The Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Morning Light, Associated Press papers, will compile returns from the 48 voting precincts of the county election night. State returns will be brought to the Sun by the Texas Election Bureau, the election organization in charge of this task for many years. The Sun is charged with the duty of returning the results of the election to the Texas Election Bureau.

As a war measure and to conserve tires, the customary election party will not be held at the Sun building election night with the returns posted and flashed on a screen. Arrangements have been made to broadcast the returns.

VICHY GOVERNMENT PROTESTS AGAINST ACTION OF AMERICA

RECOGNITION DE GAULLE DECLARED ATTACK ON FRENCH SOVEREIGNTY

VICHY, July 16.—(P)—The Vichy government protested today to Washington against assignment of military representatives to Gen. Charles De Gaulle, declaring this "constitutes an attack on the sovereignty of France."
An authorized source declared it was "inadmissible" that the American government, which is maintaining normal relations with the French government, also maintain relations with a rebel force.
(The United States department of state announced July 9 that Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte had been assigned to consult with the French government in London with the National Committee of the Fighting French headed by General De Gaulle "on all matters relating to the conduct of the war."
The announcement and an accompanying memorandum stressed that the purpose was to strengthen military aid to the Fighting French, and did not refer to the controversy over diplomatic recognition.
The United States has not given the De Gaulle organization.
The protest was announced pending publication of the French stand concerning French warships stationed at Alexandria. The latter was understood to reject all proposals to move the ships elsewhere than to French territory, on the grounds that to do so would not conform with French-German armistice terms.
(The state department announced in Washington two days ago that Vichy had already rejected two proposals by President Roosevelt for removal of the nine de-militarized French naval vessels from the Egyptian war zone.
Made Two proposals.
(President Roosevelt proposed that the ships be moved through the Suez Canal under American custody to some American port for internment until after the war, when they would be returned to France. When this plan was rejected, he suggested that the ships be sent under U. S. protective custody to Martinique, See VICHY, Page 5

COMPOSITE VIEW OF AMERICANS GIVEN TO RAF CADETS COMING

By FRANK K. KELLY.
NEW YORK, July 16.—(P)—Tap an American and he may turn you with a war whoop, a Rotarian Gripe or a fraternity yell.
If he does, says the British air ministry, because the melting pot has been cooking for a long time and many new things have been added.
He is curious, generous, violent talkative and unreserved.
He stalks the dollar with the ferocity of an Indian seeking scalps.
He leaves culture along with child-bearing to his women.
That's an American, the British ministry informs Royal Air Force cadets headed here for training.
The American is so many things it is sometimes hard to understand him, the ministry indicates in its pamphlet-portfolio for the cadets.
He is a powerful lady, weighing close to 1,000 pounds, and she demands the careful attention of her crew.

RED ARMY HALTS NAZIS AT VORONEZH—Red army counterattacks in the Voronezh region resulted in recapture of an important point on the northern anchor of the defense line against the Nazi drive for the Caucasus oil region. A stubborn defense was maintained by Marshal Timoshenko's troops in the vital Boguchar-Migulinsk, Voroshilovgrad and Pokrovsk areas. A withdrawal in the area south of Boguchar, increasing the Nazi threat in the middle sector, was admitted by the Russians.

ARMY AIR FORCES HAVE BEST RECORD SAFETY IN WORLD

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—The war department reported today that the army air forces have the best safety record of all the world's military air organizations, with an accident rate of 68 per cent below the army's rate for 1939 and 10 per cent below the 1939-40 army average.
Records show, the department said, that better than 80 per cent of the air force accidents are caused by personnel failure, and especially attention being paid to takeoffs and landings in an intensive campaign to lower the accident rate as the bulk of the accidents involved them.
Secretary of War Stimson also made the following announcements:
A battalion of Norwegian soldiers, including citizens of Norway living in this country and Americans who speak Norwegian, will be organized at an unset date at Camp Ripley, Minn., to serve with the army's ground forces.
Soldier first aid kits now contain five grams of crystalline penicillinamide each for sprinkling on wounds as a protection against infection as well as tablets of sulfanilamide to be taken internally.
The army needs nearly 20,000 additional doctors by the end of this year, and is setting up nine new medical officers' recruiting boards to enlist them.

JAPANESE NAVAL LOSSES PLACED AT 89 FIGHTING SHIPS

By The Associated Press.
The Japanese Navy has lost 89 fighting ships since Pearl Harbor, an Associated Press compilation of official announcements from the U. S. Navy, Navy and General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia disclosed today.
Similar announcements disclose 48 U. S. naval craft of all categories, including auxiliaries, lost on all sea fronts since the submarine sinking of the Rubeen James in the North Atlantic, Oct. 30, 1941.
Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the Naval Affairs Committee several months ago estimated the Japanese navy had lost 260 fighting craft.

FURTHER HITLER ADVANCES IN RUSSIA MAY CONTRIBUTE TO HIS UNDOING IF ALLES SEE CHANCE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE.
Wide World War Analyst.
Bad as the Russian military position is—and the danger of a head breakthrough on the southern front is grave—we have here a paradoxical case in which the great gains Hitler is making, coupled with their cost in blood and material, are likely to contribute to his undoing, provided the allies can create a diversion by establishing that second front.
The Nazi leader's success depends upon blitzkrieg, that is, upon his ability to smash the Red Army in the crucial approach to the Caucasus in a short time. This is so for two reasons:
First, the Nazi lines of communication already are badly extended, and the further the invaders drive the more confused will become their already seriously complicated transport problem.
Second, the supreme effort Hitler is making for a quick killing is costing so many of his best troops and wrecking so much equipment, that he cannot stand the strain he will have to slow down and in the not too distant future he will be fit game for a smashing Russian counter-offensive.
In short, so long as the Bolsheviks can continue their present fierce resistance, and effect without breaking their line, the territory which they abandon may prove to be the trap which will catch Hitler. He has achieved much already, but he has a long, hard road to travel. Stalingrad is close to 200 bloody miles further East; Astrakhan is about double that distance.
The Nazi chief now is far in advance of the supply lines which he established during the winter, and he is up among the Russian wide-gauge railways over which the narrower gauge German trains couldn't run, even if the roads still were serviceable. But the further he goes back further that is.
Louis Lochner, Associated Press and Wide World chief of Bureau in Berlin, who now is home after five months' internment in Germany, has disclosed that Hitler

FORCES OF ROMMEL OCCUPY RAILROAD STATION LAST NIGHT

DIVE BOMBERS PAVE WAY FOR TANKS AND INFANTRY AT TEL EL EISA

By HARRY CROCKETT.
WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY AT EL ALAMEIN, July 15.—(Delayed)—(P)—Paced by the usual wave of dive-bombers, Marshal Rommel's tanks which led a force of at least 500 infantrymen, smashed against Australian defenders of the Tel El Eisa railroad station last night and succeeded in occupying it.
Today the battle still was going on after a night of the most spectacular artillery fire yet seen in the current phase of the desert war.
All through yesterday afternoon the exchange of shell fire was continuous as the German forces gradually disengaged from the South Africans to the south and moved north against the Australians holding the railroad and the Tel El Eisa Ridge.
As the evening wore on, with the setting sun shining in their eyes, the Australians stopped push after push, smashing at the Nazi infantry with rifles and bayonets, and taking a heavy toll of the armored forces. Positions from the South African positions to the South also exacted a toll.
Stopped At Station.
The German tanks finally reached the station, which is of itself an unimportant spot, but were unable to push any further.
By 9 p. m. the Australian, South African and British artillery and tank units had stopped the tank attack completely, destroying at least seven of the machines.
The entire German forward movement was only a matter of yards.
The maneuver by which the Germans attacked resulted in two Aussie companies being cut off. But these bayonet-awing veterans.

ALLEN B. HANNAY NOMINATED SUCCEED JAMES V. ALLRED

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(P)—Allen B. Hannay was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Texas.
Upon confirmation of the nomination by the senate, Hannay would succeed James V. Allred, who resigned to seek the democratic nomination for senator.
The nominee received notice of his appointment on his 24th wedding anniversary.
If confirmed by the senate he will leave a state bench which he had held since the creation of the 18th Civil District court in Harris County in 1930. Former Governor Dan Moody, now a senatorial candidate, appointed Judge Hannay to the post and successive elections have confirmed the choice.
Federal law from infancy by his father, a Waller county judge, who became district attorney of the "Bloody Twenty Third" district and later district attorney for the Eastern Federal district of Texas, Allred's successor has a lifetime background in the law.
Young Hannay ripped through Hempstead Public schools and entered Texas A. and M. College at the age of 16. Two years later he enrolled at the University of Texas, marking time with academic honors.

MODIFIED EMBARGO ON WHEAT SHIPMENTS INTO KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, July 16.—(P)—A threat of a millers' strike and lack of storage space prompted the board of trade to clamp a modified embargo on all shipments of wheat into Kansas City, the nation's largest winter wheat terminal.
The order, effective last midnight, requires a board of wheat permit for every carload of wheat shipped here, whether for storage or for sale on the open market. It is the first such embargo ever ordered in Kansas City.
Storage shipments were restricted last year, but free wheat—that intended for sale on the open market—was not affected then.
A special committee of the board of trade will gauge the daily needs of the grain market and issue permits accordingly. Permits likely will be issued for around 200 cars daily, less than a fifth of the normal shipments of this time of the year.
The huge carryover, 830,000,000 bushels of the nation, has filled up all of the storage space throughout the grain belt. Farmers are storing wheat in their living quarters, automobiles, hotels and schools, and even then much of it is just piled up on

RAIL COMMISSIONER OLIN CULBERSON OPTIMISTIC MOOD

SEES BRIGHTER DAYS WHEN TRANSPORTATION BOTTLENECK BROKEN

By BRACK CURRY.
AUSTIN, July 16.—(P)—Railroad Commissioner Olin Culbertson today pointed to "brighter days" for Texas oil prospects and predicted that the point of the oil pipeline bottleneck would be broken "in the immediate future."
The commissioner asserted that fuel oils, gasolines and necessary war products would have an increased outlet to the eastern coast as a result of the assurance given by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox that the convoy system would soon be extended to the Gulf of Mexico.
Culbertson said that in his opinion the entire petroleum picture was improving with each week. Oil producers of Texas, he declared in an interview, may look forward to better days with the opening of the pipeline program, the intercoastal canal, transportation by railroad and the addition of convoys.
Praising the notion of J. E. Parton, Houston director of transportation for the office of the petroleum co-ordinator, in boosting tank car shipments to about 800,000 barrels a day, Culbertson said:
"Under the assured convoy system, Parton's accomplishment bears every promise of breaking the transportation bottleneck in the immediate future."
Pipeline Hike Step Forward.
Culbertson termed the Longview-to-Illinois pipeline authorized by the War Production Board one of the biggest wartime steps yet taken to break the transportation

It was announced a special committee had been formed to handle the work in local industrial plants while the regular group would be active in drives involving the general populace. Representatives of the various grocery establishments will be added to the general committee later it was stated.
Members of the industrial salvage committee include Hubert Brazelton, chairman; O. B. Smith, J. B. Ritterbacher, John C. Calhoun, Chas. Hyrd, Chas. Higgins, S. E. Hatchett, and John W. Swenson.
On the general committee are F. H. Harvey, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, Fred D. Prince, Claude I. Millburn, S. Keen, Louis Wolens, Miss Vera Reed, Joe Daniel, R. L. Nix, F. V. Williams, W. P. Brown, Wilbur Thompson, Mrs. W. H. Hastings, Mrs. W. K. Steele, Mrs. D. B. Walker, John R. Corley, O. B. Smith, and Mrs. Tipton Sheets.
A special representative of the industrial salvage campaign was in Corsicana early this week and outlined the phase of activities, and a meeting of the general committee will be called as soon as the details of the new campaigns on metals, rubber, and greases are available.

DESPERATE BATTLE FOR VORONEZH STILL RAGING THURSDAY

NEW ALL-OUT GERMAN OFFENSIVE HAS NETTED MUCH TERRITORY

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH.
Associated Press War Editor.
A German foothold some 20 miles inside the northern Caucasus and another on the northernmost rim were officially conceded today by the Russians while the sanguinary struggle for Voronezh on the north flank of the enemy's menacing bulge along the Don River attained a new degree of ferocity.
In the battle of Egypt, the western world's other active war theater, axis troops had forced some rectification of their position before El Alamein, partially re-establishing themselves on a coastal height, the Hill of Jeram, as the British reported it.
The African conflict, however, still played second fiddle to that in Russia.
Since launching their latest all-out effort in Russia on June 30, the Germans have won effective control of an additional 25,000 square miles of Russian territory—somewhat more than the area of West Virginia—although not all Russian forces therein have been mopped up.
Pressing behind two spearheads eastward from the bulge, the Germans threaten to crash on through to the Stalingrad elbow of the Volga River, less than 300 miles away, effectively splitting the Caucasus and easing the way for direct penetrations of the oil-bearing region farther south.
Loss of Boguchar.
These were the implications of the Russian communiques admitting loss of Boguchar, just outside the Volga bend at the mouth of the Ilovrovo, 75 miles farther south and inside the territory, on the direct line of rail communications between Moscow and Rostov.
The North Caucasus is one of Russia's principal agricultural regions.
If repeated axis reports are correct, the German advance through Boguchar has carried well beyond to the southeast. Those advances last week at the point of the spearhead at Migulinsk, 160 miles northwest of Stalingrad, industrial capital of the lower Volga.
The Russians have acknowledged fighting southeast of Boguchar and in reporting loss of Millerovo admitted that fighting there had carried to the southeast. Millerovo, a link between Russia's northern and southern Caucasian armies, is 175 miles west of Stalingrad.
Nazi Reinforced by Air.
The British said today that a German light infantry regiment flown to northern Africa from the Greek island of Crete had been incorporated in the forces of Marshal Rommel before El Alamein, thus confirming previous reports to this effect.
The suggestion here that the allied watch over the seas and bombardment of African ports had forced the Germans to ferry their reinforcements by air.
Rommel's qualified success at the battle of El Alamein—on Tuesday night may have reflected this new strength. Hardy Australian troops, however, continued to hold elevated positions in that coastal sector but were under steady pressure.
Evidently to relieve them, other Imperial forces pushed forward yesterday in the central sector of the bottleneck front between the coast and the Qattara depression some 20 miles inland.
Prisoners Were Taken.
"Prisoners were taken," said the British communique, "but their numbers were not known."
Even as the Rommel forces had won their Hill of Jeram positions, land and aerial bombardment continued and a number of axis tanks were knocked out, Cairo headquarters announced.
Allied airmen were smashing day and night at Rommel's airfields, front line positions, and supply bases far to the rear. Targets last night included the German headquarters. Enemy bombing increased a little, but the communique conceded, "but our intercepting fighters shot down seven enemy aircraft and damaged others."
The Germans declared that part of the dominating heights facing El Alamein, 70 miles west of Alexandria, had fallen to the axis and that an Australian battalion staff had been captured. The Italian told of British attacks on the central sector, and of immediate counter-attacks.
"We have taken more than 1,300 prisoners and have destroyed a good number of armored vehicles," Rome said.
The Italians also claimed that a British cruiser had been damaged in the Mediterranean by German and Italian airmen.

Candidate for Representative
58th District

To The Voters of Navarro County, 58th District:

About 9 weeks ago I asked you, the Voters of Navarro County, Texas, to consider my age, my qualifications, and experience and elect me your Representative, 58th District.

Since my announcement, I have worked hard, and have tried to see each of you personally, but since that is impossible, I am asking you, through the Corsicana Daily Sun and the Semi-Weekly Light, to please elect me as your Representative, July 25th.

I have run a clean race, and I am asking you to elect me as your Representative on my ability, my qualifications, and age.

So many of our men are going into the service and defense jobs, that I feel like this is the time for women to go to Austin to represent your interests.

Since I have never asked you for an office before, I do not have any political machine to do my work for me, but I am glad I do not have a political machine, because I can go to Austin to represent YOU, AS YOU SHOULD BE REPRESENTED.

ED, justice and fairness to all, with no political obligations, with no one dictating to me, except YOU, the Voters.

I want to go to Austin to help our dear old folks, who have been kicked around like a foot-ball. I say, the pension question is NOT settled and solved, and will not be, UNTIL all of our old citizens are receiving the $20 a month that was voted on for them.

I want to be on the job for you in Austin when our boys return triumphant from the battlefields. There will be many adjustments to be made, and legislation to be enacted to take care of our boys.

My husband is a disabled World War I Veteran, and I have three nephews in this War, and I know, as every wife and mother knows, what war is.

I believe in an economy program for Texas. Pay as we go. No more taxes.

I want to thank my hundreds of old friends and schoolmates, and my new friends, who are working in my behalf, because they believe that I WILL REPRESENT THEM honestly, economically, fairly, capably, and efficiently. I sincerely thank every one of you, and I hope that you will elect Mrs. Gurden W. (Sunshine) Williams, as your next Representative, 58th District, Navarro County.

PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION URGE 7-POINT FARM PLAN

A seven-point program for Texas farmers and stockmen was recommended at a meeting of officials of six production credit associations serving forty-five Texas counties at a meeting held in Fort Worth recently and attended by Guy R. Love, president of the Corsicana Production Credit Association.

The program included production of what America-at-war most needs and what the farmer is best qualified to handle; planning of work to eliminate use of all hired labor possible; use care in not spreading operations too far to avoid hurt in case of price breaks; conserve machinery and produce all possible living at home; pay debts while prices are good; keep income tax in mind realizing liability for 1942 is accruing before the 1941 bill is paid; and use credit wisely and establish a reserve fund.

It was reported the Corsicana association had 890 members on June 30, and credit in use amounted to $850,000; loans since that time have run past the million mark.

Field officers are maintained at Kerens, Hillsboro, Waxahatchie and Ennis in addition to the main office in Corsicana.

As there will be no speaking programs over the county for the coming election on July 25th, the only mediums of public contact for the candidates to use will be the

DAILY SUN And Semi-Weekly Morning Light

These newspapers cover Navarro County completely and can give immediate service in carrying to the voters information from the candidates. By using these mediums of public contact candidates can talk to the public in black and white, where the voters can read and re-read what they have to say.

There are only two more issues of the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Light and seven more issues of the Daily Sun before election. Better start now and "keep on keeping on" telling the voters what you want them to know about your race for public office.

REFUNDING BONDS AUTHORIZED MONDAY BY COMMISSIONERS

Navarro county commissioners' court Monday afternoon authorized the refunding, if necessary, of $53,000 of bonds in Consolidated Road District No. 1, maturing in 1943, at 2 1/2 per cent on the bid of Dunne-Iracl Company after several proposals had been studied. It was made plain by the members of the court that the $53,000 of the maturing $76,000 annual road bonds was that portion of the maturities assumed by the state board of county and road district indebtedness as used in the construction and improvement of state highways, and that the county had the money for its share without any increase in taxes.

The action is in line with similar action taken in more than 100 Texas counties as a precautionary measure so that the maturing bonds can be paid by the state regardless of the decrease in the gasoline tax revenues from which the road bonds and interest are repaid.

The bonds were issued July 1, 1927, in Consolidated Road District No. 1, and the state plans to redeem and pay-off the refunding bonds as soon as normal conditions return. Dwindling gasoline tax caused the state board to take this precautionary measure. All refunding bonds must be approved by the state board of county and road district indebtedness.

The court authorized the borrowing of $5,000 for the general fund.

Inflation Discussed Before H. D. Club

"The greatest battle to be fought on American soil is the battle of inflation," Mrs. L. K. Carraway told the Oak Valley H. D. Club in a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. W. N. McNeill.

Inflation means that nearly everything you buy has gone up," the speaker continued. Inflation is caused by having more money on hand than consumers goods.

The government is fighting inflation by increasing taxes, curtailing credit, selling war bonds and stamps, establishing price ceilings, urging lower costs of business operations, rationing, mediating wages and reducing business profits. Everyone is urged to help control these inflations by doing his part.

During the social session the hostesses served refreshments to ten members and the following visitors: Mrs. Paul Conn, Jr., Edgar Ward, Meigh Owen, Jr., Fred Richards, J. B. Redden. The next meeting will be with Mrs. T. C. Baggett, July 23. Every one is urged to be present by 2 p. m. Miss Sneed will demonstrate upholstery chairs.

YOUTHFUL VETERAN OF RUSSIAN CONVOY TALKS OF WEATHER

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—(A)—Donald Cullen, 16-year old veteran of a convoy to Russia, says the air and submarine attacks were bad enough, but the Russian weather—as noted earlier in German reports—was worse.

Donald quit school four months ago, went to New York and landed a job as messboy on a merchant ship.

"The very first day in the convoy we were attacked by submarines," he said. "They didn't get us, but I'm sure we got one of them."

Then came German air raids and Russia's famous April weather.

"I wanted to take some light underwear," said Donald, shivering, "but my mother made me take the heavy stuff. Boy, I could have used three more pairs. It sure does get cold up that way."

"We had one alert after another. Once a torpedo plane came over and let go. Just as it did, it was blown to bits by our anti-aircraft. But the torpedo struck a ship near us. In 45 seconds that ship was gone. Just an orange flare, that's all."

"We had British gunners, and let me tell you they're great marksmen and they've got guts. As for the Russian pilots—well, they don't know what it means to give up."

"If they can't shoot down a Nazi plane, they'll ram it. I've seen 50 or 70 planes come over (at Murmansk) and those Russians would go up and meet 'em head-on."

The boy now is trying for a berth on a ship bound for India. He finds life at sea so interesting.

NEW WAY TO WIN

The large-scale bombing of Bremen, following like attacks on Rostok, Cologne, Essen and Emden, suggests that the British are adopting the Douhet theory of war.

Giulio Douhet, despite his French name, was the Italian equivalent of Gen. Billy Mitchell. Like Mitchell, Douhet, in season and out, advocated the prime importance of air power. Like Mitchell, he was punished for allegedly making false statements defamatory of the Italian military high command. Like Mitchell, Douhet died too early (in 1930) to see himself vindicated.

Douhet's great idea was that military and civilian resistance could be bombed into surrender. Overwhelming air power would do the trick. While he denied any intention of doing away with the army and navy, he clearly regarded them as of secondary importance.

Chiefs of state, like other people, are much tempted to short cuts to desired ends. When Douhet asserted that his plan would win all wars, every country weighed it carefully. The Spanish Civil War of 1938 saw it tried in the bombing of Barcelona and Madrid. Great damage was done, yet no collapse followed. Douhet's theories then went into eclipse. In 1940 and 1941 the Germans practiced extensive aerial bombing, but supplemented it with elaborate forces on land and sea. Their success seemed to make adoption of the Douhet system unnecessary.

The British, having no large army for invasion, must make up the deficiency by doing what they can in the air. If their widespread destruction of German cities stops the Nazi war machine, Douhet will go down in history as one of the great military prophets of all time.

CARS TO COME

Interesting forecasts of automobile developments, when this war-time standard is over, are suggested by industrial designers. One of them says that with more power for a given weight, and with more modern materials and design, the next cars made will be far better than any yet produced. The engine, he adds, may be regarded as a movable item and placed almost anywhere—front, rear or middle of the car.

Such prospects will be welcome. But there are other possibilities of improvement which might have more serious attention than they are getting. Why, for example, should a motorist have to drive so blindly as he does now, with the high, wide front limiting visibility forward and on both sides. Simple changes giving the driver better vision forward, downward and around the front end of the car might prevent half the accidents that occur now.

Most of the drivers we see on the highways seem to be so busy tearing around that they haven't heard of any gas shortage.

An old fellow around the corner still maintains that, war or no war, weather's the most interestin' thing.

Plutocrats are vanishing, but in their place come people with tire priorities.

THE MISSING CARES.

"Tis strange, that I should like to know
The bothers of a year ago;
And coming home should long
To see
His garments where they shouldn't be,
And miss those dresser drawers pulled out
Which oft I made a fuss about.

"At times I pace the room," said she,
"And wish it weren't so orderly.
There should be papers on the floor;
A chair should hold the coat he wore.

"This there his hat he used to throw
I never thought I'd miss it so;
He used to smile to hear me
scold.

But now day-long my tongue I hold,
And all is orderly, and neat.
I wish he'd come with muddy feet.

The moment I have swept the floor
And, heedless, track it, just once more!

"Tis strange, that I should long to know
The cares o'er which I fretted so;
Could I look upon the great hall
chaos
And see his dripping raincoat
there.

But all is now so neat and trim,
For lost is every trace of him."

ECONOMIC LEADERSHIP

Mr. Baukage, radio commentator, recently quoted an economic authority as saying that three years hence the American people would still be better off than the European nations were three years ago. Such a statement turns a bright light on the economic bases of warfare, which may be even more important than the political and military bases. There is no question that this nation has entered the war immensely strong.

Moreover, there is probably no question that, when the war is over, the United States will still be about as far ahead of the other countries as it is now. All will use up their resources together and grow weaker together. Several years of draining away minerals, timber and other materials at the present rate may greatly diminish some of our resources, but in the keen quest for new sources of war materials many new kinds of wealth will be developed. Nearly everything needed for modern life exists or grows in this country, and we shall soon be producing our own supplies of rubber and various other foreign materials.

AUTO STAMP TAX

The automobile stamp tax law, it appears, has not been implemented. An economist says that "a tax that is easily evaded and thus encourages large numbers of citizens to defraud the government is fundamentally a bad tax irrespective of all other considerations," which sounds reasonable. There is a suggestion that the law be amended to deny gas to the driver without his stamp.

It is good to know, however, that 95 per cent of all American car-drivers bought their stamps last February without waiting to see whether they could get out of it. It was their duty to buy the stamps and affix them, so they did.

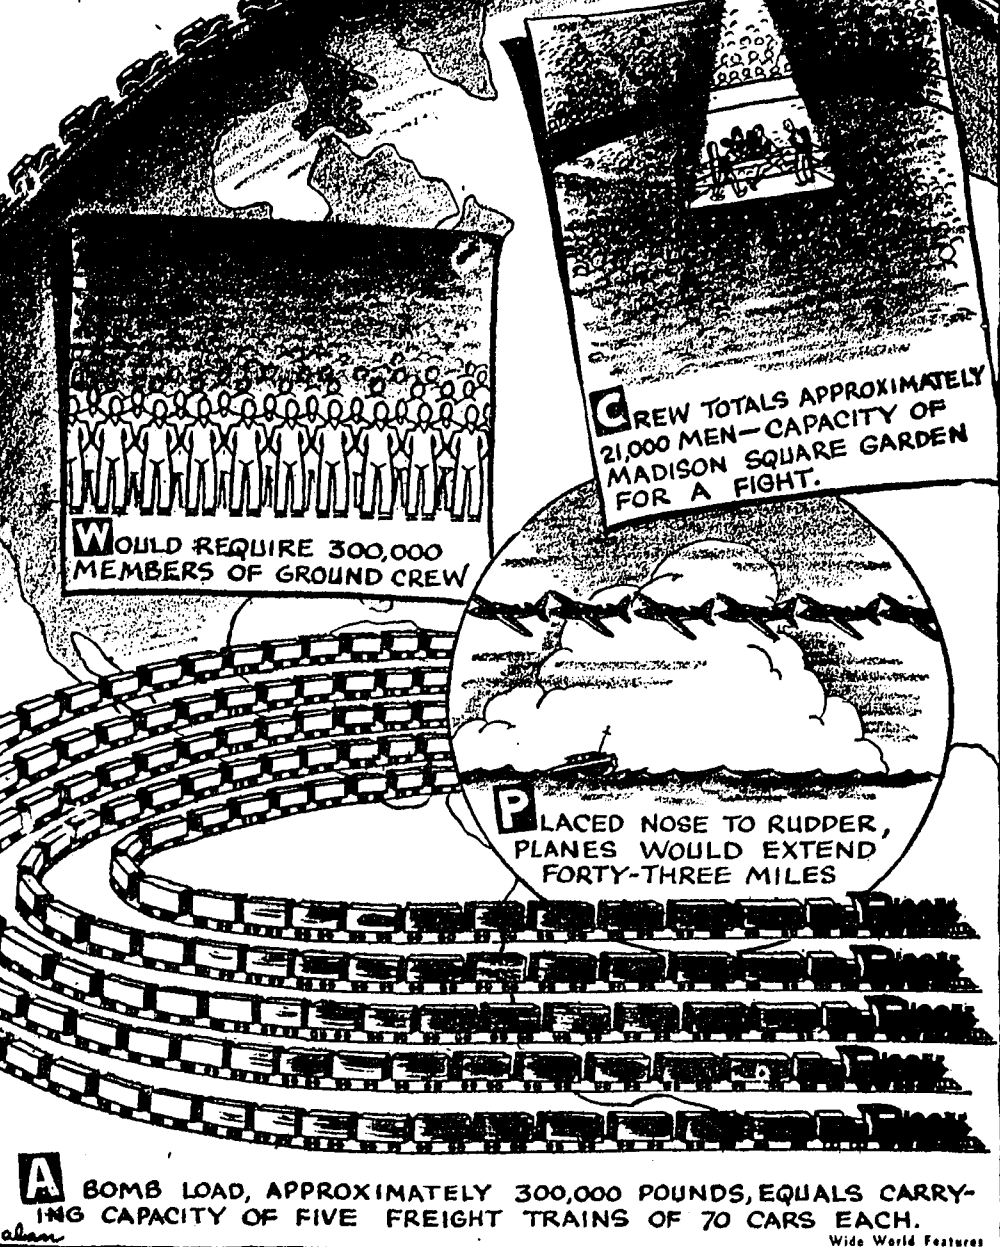

This is a fine way to uphold the government, win the war, and fool the pessimists. It is also the splendid opportunity to demonstrate the individual honesty and integrity of American citizens. Can all car windows show their new tax stickers?

YANK COMMANDOS

This introduction of "Commando" raids, in the British style, against the Japs in the Pacific Islands, is a fine idea. It might work there even better than it does against the Germans in Europe. For the Japs, with all their apparent stolidity, seem to have jumpy nerves. They get along very well in masses, where they are buoyed up by numerical support, especially when they are winning. But they are not individual fighters, and they are said to be subject to hysteria when faced by new situations or problems they do not understand.

So up and at 'em, in those far jumping-off places of the South Seas. Let them learn that the vast, rich region they took over is quickly populated with devils.

Wide World Features

Even if you're accustomed to thinking of war operations in terms of hundreds of thousands of millions these days, there's something super-colossal about the idea of a mass raid involving 3,000 bombers—and that's what the British American military leaders have promised Germany. Reduced to everyday terms, here's what such a raid would mean in men, missiles and equipment. In addition, experts have figured that the cost—including planes lost, the expense of training pilots lost, and the gasoline and bombs used—would be approximately $50,000,000.

ESCAPED CONVICT DIED IN JOHNSON COUNTY JAIL TODAY

CLEBURNE, July 15.—(AP)—A wounded man identified by Inspector Will Fritz of the Dallas Police as M. W. Barbee, 27, who escaped from Pustman prison farm July 5, died today in the Johnson county jail.

County Health Officer Lee Yater said death was due to blood poisoning. His body was found in the jail bath tub.

The man was charged in a murder complaint filed with Justice of the Peace W. T. Meador at Tascas under the name of M. E. Jones of Dallas with the fatal shooting of Walter Burch, 58, Tascas nightwatchman.

The man gave his name as M. E. Jones and was charged under that name pending the determination of his true identity, Fritz asserted.

Fingerprints established that the man was Barbee, said Sheriff Oran Smith of Johnson county, adding that the man carried a driver's license bearing the name of M. E. Jones.

Burch's bullet-pierced body was found at Tascas yesterday by a truck driver, Fire Marshal Curtis Holloway of Tascas said.

Hill county Sheriff Clarence Smith and District Attorney J. H. Bryan of the same county came to Dallas shortly after the complaint was filed and said they thought Barbee would recover from his wounds.

The convict was under seven years sentence for armed robbery from Harris county. After stunning him from an automobile which sped away, he staggered into the Cleburne hospital yesterday morning.

Records of the Corsicana Police Department played a role in the identification of the wounded man at Cleburne on Tuesday through the medium of the city-county radio system, city officials reported Wednesday.

A report on the wounded man was picked up on the radio along with his fingerprint classification.

Regulations For Trucks Extensively Changed August 1

DALLAS, July 15.—(AP)—A comprehensive revision of office of defense transportation general orders No. 3, 4 and 5 governing the use of motor carriers of motor trucks by common carriers has been issued from Washington, the Dallas ODT said today.

The revised order, establishing a more flexible standard for common carriers, as revised, all trucks affected must carry a capacity load over a "considerable portion" of the trip out or the trip back.

Trucks may be operated by common carriers with less than a capacity load or empty over a portion of the trip out or back only if, after exercising "due diligence," the owner or driver is unable to comply with the requirements of the order.

The exercise of "due diligence" will include checking with joint information offices being established in various cities or checking with other carriers individually, in the event there is no such service available. In an effort to secure a load.

These steps may be taken by the owner of a truck or his driver or other representatives. In the event no load is secured for a and found identical with local records of an escaped convict, State officials were contacted and in a short time the identification had been established, and later confirmed by Dallas officers personally acquainted with the felon.

LOCAL RANGHMAN BUY FINE BRAHMA CATTLE FROM HUGHES RANCH

B. T. (Dick) Anderson of Houston, manager of the Joe D. Hughes ranches south and southwest of Houston, was in Corsicana Monday and announced the sale of six fine registered Brahma heifers at $1,000 each and a registered Brahma bull at $2,500 to Edens and Edens, well-known Hereford breeders for many years in this section of Texas.

Mr. Anderson also stated that Burke Brothers had purchased a number of the Hughes stock of Brahma cattle and would take up breeding of this line of fine cattle in this area.

Mr. Anderson, a former resident of Corsicana, says prominent stockmen of Central Texas are gradually taking up the Brahma cattle breeding business in increasing numbers. Joe Hughes, also a former Corsicanan, is a pioneer in the Brahma cattle industry and one of the best known Brahma cattle breeders in Texas.

Former Corsicanan In Glider Training

Local friends of Frank Taylor Jr., a former resident of this city, will be interested to know that a splendid picture of him appeared in a recent issue of the Minneapolis Star-Tribune together with an item stating that he had finished his Aeronautical Corps training at Salt Lake City and is now stationed at Monticello, Minnesota, with the American Air Force Glider Training Detachment.

After having had only five hours and thirty-five minutes in the air, Frank Jr. was selected recently from a class of 130 to make his first solo flight. He was also honored by being selected as the best drilled man in his squadron.

The former Corsicanan's first training was taken at Chanute Field, Illinois. He is training at the present time to be a glider pilot.

It will be remembered that Frank Jr. spent five years in Corsicana at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Will Knight, that he graduated from Corsicana High School in 1938, and attended A. and M. College one year before entering the armed forces of his country. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor of Blooming Grove.

Fats CollectionCampaign Started

On Monday, July 13th, another drive station for Texas the local women should be interested in. It's the household fats collection campaign.

"There is nothing silly, nothing foolish about this drive to collect kitchen grease and so forth," explains George Butler of Austin, the executive secretary of the state salvage office. "It is highly important and mighty serious business. Don't let anyone kid you that it's not."

Collapse of the Far Eastern sources of supply has moved fats to a high ranking spot in the nation's war essentials. This salvaged waste of fat from the nation's kitchens will make glycerine and glycerine will go into explosives marked for Tokyo and Berlin.

The local salvage committees in each county have geared up their organization for this new campaign, Mr. Butler points out. They have enlisted the active cooperation of all the butchers in each county as well as that of the various women's organizations.

It is estimated that two million pounds of fats are wasted in the kitchens of America every year.

MORE SUGAR FOR INSTITUTIONAL AND INDUSTRIAL USERS

Institutional and industrial users of sugar will be allotted additional amounts during July and August, it was announced Wednesday by Chairman Wilbur A. Wright of the Navarro county war price and rationing board.

Institutions, including cafeterias, boarding houses, etc., will be increased from 50 to 75 per cent of the base allotment while industrial processors will be advanced from 70 to 80 per cent of the base, he pointed out.

No special applications will be necessary for the additional amounts, he said, adding that in the event the extra allotment is not purchased during July and August, it can be secured under the following quota for the next two months.

THE FIRST MURDER, AND ITS MEANINGS FOR OUR TIMES*

Difference Between Murder and War—Cain's Crime Born of Jealous, Brooding Spirit—Eternal Justice Awaits—"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Crowded into a newspaper replete with news of war's wholesale killings, we have this ancient tale of the first murder. Daily we read of myriads of battle dead, and the sense of the sanctity of human life becomes dulled. To those who do any real thinking, it is the appalling loss of life that is war's worst horror.

War is not murder. It is society functioning as a policeman, for the sake of ultimate higher values. War is evidence that the human race ends more important than the physical prolongation of personal existence. Some day—God grant it may be soon—we shall learn a better way of settling great political and social issues. To that end there should be keen heart-searching upon the part of every one of us, as to our readiness for a world of reason and of obedience to God's law.

Murder is personal, and born of base passions. The true transgression of the Sixth Commandment is not, "Thou shalt not kill," but, "Thou shalt do no murder." Almost simultaneously with his delivery of the Ten Commandments, Moses issued laws providing for the death penalty for various offenses. This execution of justice is not to be confused with the foul deed of the man who, from malignant motives, destroys the life of another.

Two Brothers
Out of the first sin of disobedience, which excluded Adam and Eve from Paradise, sprang this second sin of murder: for sin is a linked chain. The sorrow of our first parents over the crime that robbed them of their two first-born sons—one by murder, and the other by punishment which sent him afar as a wanderer on the face of the earth—is not mentioned in the narrative, but it is in the background. How many mothers and fathers have gone heart-broken to the grave because of the misdeeds of their children! The Heavenly Father surely has deep sympathy for all such, for He has shared their sorrow.

We think of Cain and Abel, sons of the same mother, playing together in innocent childhood. They had a shared life, but, somehow, different traits developed in them. The elder developed a dark streak in his character, of suspicion, jealousy and morbid self-consciousness. The other was open, ingenuous and reverent. One became a farmer, and the other a shepherd. Like David with the sheep, long centuries later, Abel learned to worship God in the loneliness of his pastoral duties. There is no greater blessing that can come to youth than a spirit of reverence, and a questing after the spiritual.

What Is True Worship?
Not because of any difference in the value between a slain lamb and an offering of the fruits of the earth, was Abel's sacrifice more acceptable than that of Cain. The difference lay wholly in the hearts of the worshippers. Abel's gift was more acceptable because he was more acceptable. His motives and spirit were true worship. The gifts offered in sacrifice may be as varied as the givers. Cain's fruits of the earth might have been as welcome to God as Abel's slain lamb, but there was that in his heart which prevented true worship. God cares more for a true heart of devotion than for any form of ritual.

Cain was really wroth with God; but he took his anger out on Abel. He brooded over what he believed to be an affront. Like many a person since, he nursed his grievance until it boiled up into action. Rivalry became revenge. His black mood blotted out his reason. Cain was the first instance of the consequence of cherishing evil thoughts. As "Young's Night Thoughts" says:

"Guard well your thoughts; for thoughts are heard in heaven." We may fairly let our imaginations run over the scene, as the two brothers stroled afield. On what pretext did the guileful Cain lure his trustful, unsuspecting brother away to the scene of the crime? What hot and hate-filled words poured from his lips as he struck the fatal blow? Nowadays, we read murder stories for entertainment; but this first murder holds only horror. May not the best of us, beholding, and recalling our own dark passions, say, with Newman as he looked upon a hanged criminal at Newgate, "There, but for the grace of God, hangs John Newman." There is a potential Cain, as well as a potential Christ, within every human breast.

First of all the questions in the Bible was God's word to Adam. "Where art thou?" That was the challenge to the individual, studied last week. Second of God's questions was addressed to Cain. "Where is Abel, thy brother?" Thus was posed the persisting "social question." One man has a responsibility for another. Today the question's form is the same, though vastly expanded. Of nations, God is asking, "What of thy brother, in Africa, in India, in China, in South America, in the islands of the sea?" This war is being fought to assert our responsibility for all men, and for the neediest first of all. Above the thunder of the guns, sensitive spirits hear the challenging voice of God, "Where is thy brother?" Out of the afflicted Cain's lips tumbled, first a lie: "I know not." Lying is mixed up with every other sin; and he who avoids lying, avoids most of the others.

Then followed quickly the sullen, defensive words, "Am I my brother's keeper?" The first man to deny social responsibility was a liar and a murderer. An affirmative answer to Cain's question is taught in all Scripture, and is written large across the thinking of our own day. Another voice, louder, clear and truer than Cain's, is recorded in the story: "The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground." No wrong goes unheeded by God. His love does not blind His justice. The peoples of Europe have suffered degradation and exile and imprisonment and torture and death, crying ever, "How long, O Lord, how long!" But God hears; and will as surely punish their oppressors as he punished Cain the murderer, sending him forth, a marked man, to wander alone over the earth with his conscience.

Important Notice TO ALL ELECTION OFFICIALS!

Immediately upon the completion of the count of your box phone (collect) results to the Corsicana Daily Sun.

The Sun will attempt to give complete county totals the night of the election. This will be impossible without your box. Just tell the operator to connect you with the Daily Sun, Corsicana, (collect).

You should bear in mind that the Legislature passed a law requiring your returns to be phoned in immediately after the polls are closed and the count completed and imposes a stiff penalty on the precinct chairman if he should neglect to do this. FIRST VERIFICATION OF MUSCLE SPASM AS PARALYSIS SYMPTOM

By WILLIS YOUNG
CHICAGO, July 15. (AP)—The first verification of an Australian nurse's belief that muscle spasm is a damaging and ever present symptom of infantile paralysis was reported today in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

By making more than 500 graphic records of the electrical current produced by muscles in action, two physicians substantiated this part of the once unaccepted teachings of Miss Elizabeth Kenny.

The proof was announced by Dr. R. Plato Schwartz and Dr. Harry D. Boman of the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry, Rochester, N. Y., whose study was sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Until recently, most physicians treated poliomyelitis in its acute stage by immobilization, using splints and other devices to prevent movement of arms, legs and other affected parts.

Instead, Miss Kenny's method is to apply moist heat and start passive exercise of the affected parts. The medical profession, after numerous good results from her method, now recognizes its value but there has been no previous laboratory evidence verifying that muscle spasm is an integral part of acute poliomyelitis.

Miss Kenny, who came to the United States to demonstrate her method, contended that affected muscles in acute infantile paralysis were in spasm. Such spasms involve involuntary contractions of muscles, including twitches, irritability to stretching and continuous contraction of some muscle fibers.

Although methods of preventing the disease have not been discovered, verification of the presence of spasm explains why the Kenny method results in the benefits that have been observed.

allowed the railway transportation of that country to go to pot because he was banking on the great military highways he was building. Well, the highways would have been grand if the feuer had won the war over night as he expected, but he did not.

Now Hitler's home transport is in a bad way and is rapidly growing worse. Thus he hasn't even proper facilities to start his supplies out of Germany for the to say nothing of handling them in Russia. And to say nothing of moving the endless trains of wounded back from the battle zone.

We are told that Marshal Timoshenko hasn't yet been forced to call on great reserves which are being held for a counter-blow. If the Russians are able to throw a great weight of fresh troops against Hitler when he is deep in Soviet territory, tired and hampered by disrupted communications, they may be able to inflict a disaster on him. It is reported that this is the strategic line the Muscovites have been pursuing.

Number Accepted Military Service

A number of youths from Navarro and adjoining counties have been accepted for enlistment in the United States army this week by Sergeant M. A. Strickling in charge of the local recruiting station. They were sent to Dallas for final physical examination and assignment to reception centers.

Those sent out Tuesday included James L. Bone, Route 3, Corsicana; Durward L. DeRusha, Route 1, Barry; Lester E. Beene, Route 3, Teague. Wednesday's quota included George A. Watkins, Route 2, Corsicana; Ernest L. Wilson, 830 West Seventh avenue, Corsicana; Carl A. Harp, Route 2, Mexia; Glendell Deerdoff, Mexia, and Tom McKinley, Wortham. On Thursday the list included Robert M. Jennings, Jr., Navarro; William C. Absher, Jr., 1737 West Second avenue, Corsicana, and Louis E. Barnhart, Hubbard.

bottleneck throttling the state's oil industry can replace pipe lines in meeting the East's minimum petroleum need of 1,300,000 barrels daily," he stated. "To my mind, pipe lines are the most important from the viewpoint of defense and of future utilization."

With War Production Board priorities the 24-inch steel pipeline will be completed by Dec. 1 under government ownership.

"In comparing the value of pipe lines and tankers, it must be remembered that the pipe line is a 24-hour proposition," the commissioner explained.

"The Longview to Illinois pipeline when completed will kick out 200,000 to 300,000 barrels every day while 13 to 14 days are required for a tanker with 100,000 barrel capacity to make the round trip from the Gulf coast to the East."

"I am hopeful of an extension of the line across the Alleghenias to give us direct access to the East," he added. "This would take us out of the mercy of high tanker rates, where we have always been."

The projected oil artery will decrease the cost of transportation from producing fields in Texas to the big northern refineries, Culbertson said, saying that "there is a big difference in the cost of transportation from Houston to the East and from Illinois refineries to the East."

Kansas and Oklahoma, Culbertson explained, are taking oil from storage to meet demands of Eastern consumers, and "with rapidly decreasing production in these two states, this new pipe line will insure an increase in the flow of East Texas oil to take the place of oil from Kansas and Oklahoma."

Combined with the storage emergency, the grain industry received a threat of a strike by workers in seven Kansas City flour mills unless wages were increased. Howard L. Neither the present scale nor the union's requested increase was disclosed. The union delayed action until tomorrow.

ans sliced their way through to the north.

A few Germans were captured and these were found not to be of front line quality. Some anti-aircraft gunners and light artillerymen were being used as infantrymen, and the British considered this a good sign.

Throughout the night the sky was alight with star shells and flares, as bombing and shelling continued, with the British fire much the heavier.

Brilliant Red bursts from big guns, flaming hot chunks of high explosive shells, the red streaks of anti-aircraft tracers and the flares of bomb explosions created a brilliant red bursts from big the desert sky.

In the early hours this morning one of the heaviest dive-bomber attacks of the campaign started against the most northwesterly point held by the Australians, about 10 miles beyond El Alamein.

One veteran of the siege of Tobruk declared, "Tobruk was beautiful compared to this morning; I never saw so many bombs at one time."

The Germans used 36 to 40 dive bombers in that single attack. I visited the most westerly point of the El Alamein positions and found perspiring British soldiers, stripped to the waist, firing American-made 155-millimeter guns.

The northern end of the El Alamein position is salt marsh near the sea, rimmed by high sand dunes and spotted with brush and holes. It is a dismal place, but tough for an enemy to take.

Axis Capture Heights.

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), July 16.—(AP)—DNE said today some dominating heights around El Alamein had been captured by Axis desert forces after fierce fighting yesterday and an Australian battalion staff was seized in engagements still progressing.

U. S. Bombers Blast Bengasi.

CAIRO, July 16.—(AP)—Heavy bombers of the United States Army Air Forces made a daylight attack on the axis base of Bengasi, Libya, yesterday, starting a large dock fire.

The bombing was one phase of the continuing battle of the western desert, in which RAF and allied airmen attacked the axis armies "in force" at the front.

On the ground the German-Italian forces of Marshal Erwin Rommel were reported to be giving ground on the central front west of El Alamein, but British headquarters acknowledged that the Germans had achieved some gains in the coastal zone and "partially succeeded" in re-establishing themselves at Tel El Eisa.

British Hold Coast Positions.

CAIRO, July 16.—(AP)—Although axis forces "partially" succeeded in establishing themselves at Tel El Eisa Tuesday night after sharp fighting, British forces are continuing to hold positions on high ground along the coast in that sector, British headquarters announced today.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Fasteeth makes false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Dear Pop:

Just like you said, Pop, this army life's makin' a man out of me. Of course, not the man you were when you were skirmishin' around with the old Rainbow Division. In this war we gotta be tough! I have to laugh when I think how you'd look bouncing around in a jeep for a couple of hours. Or shooting one of those dandy little anti-tank rifles off your shoulder!

We're putting together a rip snorter this trip. They're doing everythin' to make us just about the best bunch of fightin' galoots you ever saw.

And that goes for what they do for us off duty, too! You should see the new clubhouse they got for us just outside of camp. Got radios, dance floors, nice soft chairs and everything. And you can get something to eat that won't cost you a month's pay.

Now the army isn't running this. The USO's doing it. Most of the camps got clubs, too, because you and a lot of other folks dug down and gave the money to the USO last year.

But, Pop, you know what's happened since then. You've seen it right at home. Guys are just streaming into uniform. Why, last year there was less than 2 million of us. This year there'll be 4 million. The USO needs a lot of money to serve that many men.

That's why the USO is setting out to raise more of it—around 32,000,000 bucks I hear. Now, Pop, I know you upped with what you could last time. But it would sure be swell if you could dig down in the old sock again. Maybe you could get some of the other folks around the neighborhood steamed up.

It will mean an awful lot to the fellows down here and in every other camp. Sort of show 'em the home-folks are right there backing 'em up. And, Pop, I guess I don't have to tell an old soldier like you that's a mighty nice feeling for a fellow to have. See what you can do, huh, Pop?

CONDITIONS NEARLY IDEAL PREVAILED IN TEXAS CROP AREAS

AUSTIN, July 16.—(AP)—Nearly ideal conditions prevailed in most of the northern two-thirds of the state for a harvesting of grain and cultivation of fields in the week ended July 12, while crops made good progress, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported today.

In the south and south central third, fields and ranges had been soaked by heavy rainfall which checked most farm work and resulted in some crop damage on bottom lands. On the whole, however, the beneficial results of the needed moisture probably more than offset the damage. Much of the upper section continued to wet. Soil moisture appeared to be adequate in most sections, except that part of the low plains are lacking surface moisture or growing crops. Favorable weather, transient combines and generally ideal conditions for harvesting have resulted in harvesting a near-record crop of wheat in record time in the Panhandle. About 80 per cent of the tremendous crop in the district had been harvested. Harvest had been completed in most other sections of all small grains. A very light oat crop and a good barley crop in the state as a whole were obtained. Rice made good progress, except that some late planted fields were damaged by excessive rains.

General conditions were satisfactory for cotton though heavy rainfall over a period of days in south-central and south Texas caused some damage to the advanced crop.

Plans were shedding small bolls and squares, but serious damage will probably be limited to lowlands that were flooded. Good progress was reported from other sections, with the plant fruiting and blooming freely in all areas. Insects were showing up, and poison was being used in most districts.

Picking and ginning had begun in the Rio Grande Valley, and was expected to progress northward during the latter part of July.

Col. E. O. Thompson Corsicana Visitor

Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, seeking re-election to the full term on the approaching general primaries, was in Corsicana yesterday night in the interest of his candidacy.

In discussing the war, Thompson cautioned against any idea that the conflict will be over soon. To do so, he said, "either is wishful thinking or spreading Hitler propaganda."

He termed Texas the "oil reservoir of the United Nations" after pointing out the assets in the state's oil in the north. Texas has more than 30 per cent of all the oil that is available to the United Nations and more than 50 per cent of the oil reserves of the United States, he said. Texas had conserved by proration and regulation through the railroad commission while other states had permitted their wells to flow wide open.

O'Daniel, Collins Here Friday Night

A twin-bill of political attractions will appear at the courthouse Friday night at 8:30 o'clock. U. S. Senator W. L. Collins, seeking re-election, and Hal Collins, O'Daniel's friend, running for the gubernatorial nomination in the approaching primary elections, will speak in the interest of their respective candidacies, according to an announcement from local supporters.

A huge crowd is expected to hear these two office aspirants discuss issues in their respective campaigns and present their claims for consideration. The senatorial race in recent weeks has become a political "hot" political campaign with three former governors in the race. Delegations from surrounding counties are expected to be present at the Friday night appearance of O'Daniel and Collins.

EXERCISE WHILE BRUSHING YOUR HAIR.

July 16—Health, Beauty—There is fun in accomplishing two good deeds in one operation—brushing your hair and doing something worthwhile for your hair as well as for your figure. I refer to the exercise while brushing your hair, which I am giving you today. Do them faithfully—and watch your hair and your figure improve!

1. Lie across the bed, head hanging over the side. As you make each stroke with the brush, kick the legs alternately backward, bending at the knee. Try to make the feet hit the buttocks. (This position is excellent for brushing—even without kicking, because the blood has a chance to rush to the scalp.)

2. Stretching the head high, bend it slowly to try and touch the head to the left shoulder—directly sideways. Then brush the hair on the right side. Stretch the head to the right shoulder and brush the hair on the left side.

3. Stand with the feet apart, toes pointing forward, and bend over slowly so that the head hangs between the legs. Keep the knees straight. See that the stretch comes from the spine as you bend. Now brush the hair twenty strokes. Straightening up, slowly pulling the tummy in and up. Slowly stretch forward again, and brush another twenty strokes.

4. Brush with two brushes—one in each hand. Rotate the arms from the shoulder, pulling out from the spine, and "squeeze" the shoulder toward the neck as you come forward. Now brush backward with the rotation, stretching from the breastbone.

5. Stretch head high and then slowly drop the head backward as far as possible. Then brush with the brushes, getting a good pull outward from the breastbone. This is an excellent exercise for firming the bustline.

6. Stand erect, feet straight ahead, and about six inches apart. Bend directly to the side—from the waistline only—ana-d be sure that you do not lean forward. Stretch far over to the left side, and brush the right side of the hair—up and out. Return to erect position; then stretch and bend far over to the right side, and brush the hair on the left side of the head.

OVER TEN MILLION WORKERS NEEDED TO CARRY OUT WAR PLAN

DALLAS, July 16.—(AP)—At least 10,500,000 workers must be added to the manpower of war industries during 1942 if the President's program is to be accomplished, according to an estimate of the United States Employment Service, William L. Mitchell, associate director of the agency, said here.

Supplying labor to farmers for the harvest this year and correlating this with the constant demand for staffing war plants and military needs is the greatest challenge that has yet come to the U. S. E. S., Mitchell declared.

He asserted that about 3,400,000 men will be withdrawn from the labor market during this calendar year for the military services.

He suggested the only answer is the increasing conversion of workers from non-war industries, and the addition to the labor market of millions not ordinarily included in the working forces. These will be principally women, he added.

It is important and necessary, Mitchell said, that employees use the services of minority groups, such as negroes and Mexicans, parties who can be placed in war work with a minimum of training.

Mitchell addressed a group of U. S. E. S. officials from Colorado, Arkansas, Mississippi, Arizona, Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana.

M'Allen Woman Has Finally Reached Her Husband Venezuela

M'ALLEN, July 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Thomas Shock—who was married Feb. 1, 1942, at Corpus Christi, but who nevertheless hadn't seen her husband for nearly two years—was reunited with him this week at Caracas, Venezuela.

After nearly five months of delay and red-tape cutting, the former Miss Cordelia McMahon of McAllen was able to obtain passage on a southbound airliner for Venezuela to join the man she married by proxy.

Shock nearly two years ago left hurriedly. Miss McMahon spent more than 18 months trying to obtain permission to join him, but the rules forbade any unmarried woman on the oil company property.

Then she was married by proxy in the Corpus Christi ceremony. Her father-in-law, Tom Shock, of La Feria, stood in his son's place. That was supposed to have satisfied the rules and regulations, but wartime restrictions added to her difficulties.

Finally came word that she had been placed in position No. 55 for passage on the South America-bound plane, but priority passengers appeared and took her seat Saturday morning so she was able to find a place on the plane for Caracas. On Sunday, she was the guest of U. S. Marshal Lee Hutchins in Panama, and on Monday, she reached Caracas.

Appropriations Of 223 Billions For War Program

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The war production board reported today that appropriations approved and proposed for carrying on the war program total approximately $223,000,000,000.

Appropriation and contract authorizations as of today amounted to $212,000,000,000, WPB said. The naval construction act, authorizing the construction of about $3,850,000,000 of additional naval tonnage, was approved by the president on July 9, but did not carry and specific appropriation of funds.

In addition, about $2,180,000,000 for other war agencies has been requested. Of this amount, $314,000,000 has been appropriated and expenditure of the balance is provided for in pending legislation.

During the first two years of the war effort, ended June 30, federal expenditures for military purposes totaled $34,765,000,000, including disbursements by the treasury and the reconstruction finance corporation. Of the total, $16,650,000,000 went to the army, $10,211,000,000 to the navy, and $4,098,000,000 for the lend-lease administration.

RIO GRANDE VALLEY MAY SUPPLY RUBBER GREAT QUANTITIES

CRYPTOSTEGIA PLANT IS SOURCE THAT MAY HELP RELIEVE SHORTAGE

By L. T. EASLEY.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—From down in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, on both sides of the border, may come great quantities of natural rubber to make up partially for supplies cut off with the Japanese capture of the Dutch East Indies.

The prospective source is the cryptostegia plant.

A small group of scientists have been called together today in Philadelphia, summoned by the government in the hope that they may be able to devise improved methods of capturing the precious latex-bearing milk that comes from the numerous rubber-bearing plants that grow in the Western Hemisphere.

Cryptostegia, which thrives in the Valley, is expected to get special consideration at the meeting.

Less publicized than the guayule plant, cryptostegia nonetheless is getting the serious attention here of the Federal government. The WPB official directly in charge of promoting production of natural rubber declares chances are good indeed of its being developed successfully on a large scale.

"Rubber Czar."

Head of the entire rubber program for the WPB is Arthur B. Newhall, the so-called "rubber czar" appointed by WPB Director Donald Nelson. Under Newhall are two experts, one responsible for synthetic rubber production, the other for production of natural rubber resources.

Responsible for the natural rubber program is A. C. Brett, whose title is deputy co-ordinator of the WPB rubber section.

"The rubber content of the cryptostegia plant is high," commented Brett. "We certainly are hopeful that it may turn out to be an important source of rubber, and I think the chances are very good that it will be exploited successfully."

He declared that the only drawback to the plant now was the difficulty in tapping and getting the latex-bearing milk to processing plants. It was in the hopes that present methods might be improved, not only for processing cryptostegia but other rubber plants, that the Philadelphia meeting was called.

Government to Aid.

Brett said that the scientists all had been experimenting for years with the cryptostegia plant, which is a vine-like shrub. The purpose of the meeting, he added, was to let them know that the government was strongly behind their research and would lend all possible aid for stimulating the studies.

Speaking of foreign supplies, Brett observed that negotiations were going on now between the state department and the Mexican government, with the board of economic warfare participating in discussions, relative to co-operation between the United States

Decision Due Soon On Matter Mexican Labor Texas Farms

AUSTIN, July 16.—(AP)—Returning from conferences in Mexico City with Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, State Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald declared that a definite decision should be reached this week on the question of importing Mexican labor to help with the harvest of crops in the United States.

McDonald conferred with Wickard and Rep. Richard M. Kleberg of Texas on the urgent need for labor to make the Texas harvest. Wickard and Kleberg are representing the United States at a Pan-American conference on agriculture.

"The Mexican government is eager to cooperate with us on the labor question," McDonald said, "but they want reasonable assurance from the federal government that the labor that comes across the border will receive a fair wage and liveable quarters."

Pro-Democratic Rally Marks Funeral Rites

BUENOS AIRES, July 16.—(AP)—The funeral of former President Roberto M. Ortiz, whose death removed one of the hopes of democratic forces in Argentina, was turned into a fervent pro-democratic demonstration today by a shouting crowd which defied a rainstorm to pay him a final tribute.

Ortiz died yesterday, three weeks after he had resigned the presidency because of ill health, leaving the office without having realized his ambition of assuring Argentina's allegiance to democratic ideals.

The crowd today, growing steadily as the funeral cortege moved along the streets, cheered for democracy, shouted, "We loved him, and they killed him."

and Mexico in developing rubber production below the Rio Grande. He said some agreement should be reached within the next week or 10 days that would permit a rubber production program to get under way in Mexico in co-operation with officials of this government.

Ideal Growth Area.

Development of cryptostegia would be one of these sources, he added. It grows wild in both desert soils and in well watered areas. Those backing its development declared that hundreds of thousands of acres on both sides of the Rio Grande are ideally suited for its production.

One of its principal advantages over guayule is that it is simply tapped for its rubber content, while in the case of guayule the entire plant is torn up, roots and all, and crushed to a pulp. Because the cryptostegia plant is so small, it is not very practical to tap it with a small milk bucket as is done with heavier trees, said Brett.

Consequently, the best known method is to dig off a top of the plant periodically, and process the shorn tops to obtain the milk.

One of the possible sources in Mexico, Brett added, was harvesting of some rubber tree plantations that had been set out about 30 years ago, then abandoned because the Far East production made their operation unprofitable.

WASHINGTON FAMILY OF FOUR ADMITTED HUGE COMMISSIONS

MORE THAN HALF MILLION DOLLARS COLLECTED FOR WAR CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—A Washington family of four acknowledged before the house naval committee today that it had realized profits amounting to $708,194 in 1941 by obtaining war contracts for 11 manufacturers on a commission basis.

"What's your definition of war profiteering," Rep. Magnuson (D-Wash.) asked William Scrimgeour, father and founder of the partnership.

"I don't think that I have one," Scrimgeour replied.

The partnership includes Scrimgeour, his wife, and their two sons, Maxwell and C. Bailey Scrimgeour.

Maxwell Scrimgeour testified that the family had collected $206,846 in commission fees for contracts obtained in the last three years from the navy department alone, and had another $46,852 "in sight" from that source.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) announced that the committee was going to insist that the government renegotiate army and navy contracts to recapture "commission fees paid to war brokers."

Besides saving money and breaking up "this commission racket," Vinson said it would and the impression among many manufacturers that they needed "so-called influence boys" to help get government contracts.

Profits of $250,000.

Maxwell told the committee, in response to questions, that the family's profits for the first six months of this year amounted to about $250,000, and Vinson instructed him to furnish the committee with details "so that we and the government may have a full account."

Scrimgeour, the father, declared emphatically that he had no "pull" at the navy department to help him land contracts for his clients, but said he knew plenty of people down there. He said his sons did say they had paid civilian employees of the navy department "small sums" for sending them public copies of navy regulations for material "in their spare time."

Pressed for an explanation of the "tremendous profits" by members of the committee, Scrimgeour said he would forward on a witness table and confided:

"Probably this isn't according to Hoyle, but this business jump at us so darn fast that we haven't had time to do much about it."

Later, he said the government would recapture much of the family's profits because "taxes are getting a good part of it," and said that in three instances he had lowered his fees for obtaining the contracts. The testimony of the father and sons showed that their commissions ranged from 10 per cent on army contracts down to 2-1/2 per cent on some of the larger ones.

Under questioning by Rep. Mott (R-Iowa) as to what the mother contributed to the firm's activities, Maxwell said that she had a total of between $7,000 and $8,000 invested in the firm's original capital when the father started 20 odd years ago to obtain contracts for manufacturers.

Vinson attempted unsuccessfully to draw from the Scrimgeours the names of other war workers engaged in securing contracts on a commission basis, but the father said that he knew of none other than those who already have been summoned to appear before the committee.

"You have a convenient memory," declared Vinson.

Scrimgeour, Sr., told the committee at one point that the "fellow who comes down here and is not acquainted has a devil of a time" in getting a contract of a time.

But, for one who is acquainted, he said, "it's the easiest thing in the world to get a contract." He added heatedly "to service that contract is another thing."

TWO UNITED STATES MERCHANT VESSELS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that two medium-sized United States merchant vessels had been torpedoed, one in the Atlantic off the coast of South America, the other in the Gulf of Mexico. Survivors have been landed at east coast and Gulf coast ports.

A GULF COAST PORT, July 16.—(AP)—Fifteen crewmen struggled to a partially-burned lifeboat and escaped while 27 other crew members perished in the torpedoing and sinking of a medium-sized United States cargo vessel in the Gulf July 9, the Navy announced here today.

Two torpedoes crashed into the portside within ten seconds about 11:30 p. m. while the ship was lying blacked out close to shore in 5 to 8 fathoms of water on a clear, moonless night.

Five men were on the lookout, three of them merchant seamen, two U. S. armed guardsmen and one other, stationed on the bow, the bridge and the aft gun platform.

Most of the crew were asleep below decks when the torpedoes struck, enveloping the bridge and the forward part in a sheet of flame.

The master and many ship officers lost their lives.

The missing and believed dead included: Carl F. Eickhoff, Highlands, Texas; Fred W. Carille, Goose Creek, Texas; Harold J. Kieley, Baytown, Texas; William J. Roberts, Houston, Texas; Thomas L. Hooper, Galveston, Texas; Jack Reed, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Hospitalized for injuries were: John B. Stirling, Goose Creek, Texas; Earl J. Heavner, Houston, Texas.

Texas' Wartime Governor

AUSTIN, Texas, July 16.—Keeping the gears of the war machine in Texas running smoothly has become the major task of Governor Coke R. Stevenson, Texas' war-time chief executive. How well those gears have been meshing is attested by the fact that Texas generally is recognized as the leading state of the "arsenal of Democracy."

The war has brought many new problems to the Governor's desk, just as it has brought many problems to the average individual. Through selective service boards, which operate under Governor Stevenson's direction, thousands of young Texans have been inducted into the nation's armed forces. As a result of conferences between Governor Stevenson, high ranking Army and Navy officials and the state's road building agency, hundreds of miles of strategic military highways and roads giving access to military training areas have been constructed.

As the state's chief executive, Governor Stevenson is commander-in-chief of The Texas Defense Guard, an organization of 18,000 officers and men, fully trained and equipped to meet any emergency growing out of the war effort. The Governor also is the state Civilian Defense Director and, as such, supervises the work of 894 local defense co-ordinators in as many counties and municipalities. The plan for civilian evacuation of danger areas in event of attack was worked out under Governor Stevenson's direction.

Governor Stevenson took the lead in urging Texans to co-operate in the scrap rubber drive, so that the nation's armed forces can have essential arms and equipment made wholly or partially from rubber. On the basis of the latest available reports, Texans have contributed twice as much rubber, on a per capita basis, as the national average for all states.

Governor Stevenson has given full force and effect to his statement that winning the war is the No. 1 objective of his administration and that he would permit nothing to stand in the way of Texas making the fullest possible contribution to its accomplishment.

We, The People

In spite of the mighty massing of military and naval strength, it is the little man who does the real, actual work and, in truth, makes the headlines. But for the simple, average citizens in uniform and out, there could be no all-out-War-Effort that would avail anything. It is we, the people who will fight through to victory.
